WHOLESALE RAIDS BRING ARREST OF SABIN BANK YEGGS

OFFICERS OBTAIN CONFESSION FROM ONE OF FOUR ARRAIGNED FOR ROBBERY

Moorhead, Minn., Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — Armed with positive identifications and a confession, county officials today arraigned three men, arrested in wholesale raids after the Sabin Bank hold-up, on first degree bank robbery charges.

Hearings were set for Jan. 11 for the three who gave their names as Ed Redman, 45, St. Paul; Zach Lemon, 21, Moorhead, and Sam Abes, 28, Fargo.

George Carlson, cashier of the Sabin bank, from whom four bandits took $2,500 last week, made a positive identification of the three men, officials said. A fourth bandit who was believed to have driven the automobile in which the bandits escaped after the holdup was being sought.

Sheriff Archie Whaley who made the arrests said that he had obtained a confession from one of the men but did not divulge which. According to the confession the three men under arrest were charged by the fourth who seized the major share of the loot.

Redman was arrested Monday night in a Moorhead hideaway. Abes was captured in an earlier roundup and was known as a bootblack in Fargo. Lemon was apprehended at Ponsford, Minn. Redman was also known as "St. Paul Blackie."

Fail to Unearth Clues in Cambridge Raid
Cambridge, Minn., Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — County authorities today were unable to add anything to previous clues as to the identity of six bandits who robbed stores and held a night marshal and watchman captive. All tips that were run down led to worthless information, it was announced.

Foshay Asks Continuance as New Trial Nears
Minneapolis, Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — Principals in the retrial of Wilbur B. Foshay and four business associates on charges of using the mails to defraud converted on Minneapolis today for the opening of court Monday.

Although two former officials of the defunct W. B. Foshay company pleaded guilty to the charges yesterday, the other defendants have indicated they will fight charges against them.

As Foshay hurried from Denver, his attorneys announced they would file a motion asking a continuance of at least six months and a change of venue. Attorneys for Foshay also represent H. H. Henley, former executive vice president of the company.

Governmental Agencies Must Share Tied-up Funds
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — All governmental agencies that share in the funds collected by a county treasurer will suffer on a pro-rata basis if the funds are lost through closing of a bank, the attorney general's office ruled today in an opinion to State Public Examiner A. R. Johnson.

Possible dividends derived from a closed bank also will be divided on a pro-rata basis.

House Committee Takes Up Mellon Impeachment Charge

Washington, Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — The impeachment charges brought by the youthful democratic Texas congressman, Wright Patman, against the multimillionaire secretary of the treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, were before the house judiciary committee today for inquiry.

Patman, famed as champion of a cash bonus for war veterans, created a sensation when he stood before the house and accused Mellon of violating a law passed in 1789, though he said for several months he was going to do it.

Washington, Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — A letter from Secretary of State Kellogg to American bankers written in 1926, warning them to use great care in making loans to Germany, was read to the senate finance committee investigation of foreign loans today.

St. Paul, Jan. 9. — (U.P.) — Former Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg today chose not to comment on a letter he wrote in 1926 to bankers warning them against foreign loans. The letter was introduced today into hearings of the senate finance committee.

matter of priority of claims before making loans. Considerable money was loaned Germany after the date of the letter.

Warne of Complications
The letter was read by Senator Johnson, republican, California, after he had questioned Joseph R. Swan, president of the Guaranty company of New York, regarding his company's loans. Swan said he did not recall the letter.

Kellogg urged that bankers make sure that the money loaned would be used to improve the economic conditions in Germany. Then he warned that "serious complications" might arise "in connection with interest and amortization payments," by German borrowers from future actions of the agencies handling reparations payments. He pointed out that the Versailles treaty made all the assets of the German empire and its states subject to "a first charge" for reparations and similar payments.

These risks, he told the bankers, "obviously concern the investing public" and, if they cannot be eliminated, Kellogg said, bankers "should consider whether you do not owe a duty to your prospective clients fully to advise them of the circumstances."

Latin-America Overborrowed
Before Swan testified, representatives of the commerce department discussed loans to Latin-American countries, maintaining that they were made despite information circulated by the commerce department showing Latin-America had already borrowed more than its credit warranted. A number of these loans now are in default.

Washington, Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — Latin America was known to have borrowed more money than its credit warranted when Wall street loans for seven Latin American nations were floated in 1928 and 1929, the senate finance committee loan investigation was told today by James C. Corliss. He is specialist in Latin-American finance for the commerce department.

"During the latter part of the loaning period from 1926 to 1929 we knew the countries were overborrowed," said Corliss, a stocky-built young man. "Our information was public property and available to anyone who asked for it."

Southern Floods Imperil Lives as Levees Crumble

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — Lives were imperiled in the northern Mississippi flood area today, when a break in the Mathews Bayou levee sent flood waters over a wide stretch of lowlands.

The United Press correspondent at Glendora, Miss., said motor launches were taking negroes off house tops and others were rescued from precarious perches in trees. Water six to 10 feet was reported surging in the immediate vicinity of the break, two miles north of Swan Lake, Miss.

Boats playing in the newly flooded area were also reported to have found persons on floating trees, barn roofs and hen houses, lifted from their foundations by the flood. Red Cross officials said more boats were needed immediately to prevent a large death toll. More than 5,000 persons live in the district endangered by the break above Swan Lake, and 50,000 acres of land are threatened with inundation.

Wish of Rosenwald, Philanthropist Ex-Newsboy, Carried Out Secret Burial

Chicago, Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — Julius Rosenwald, who peddled newspapers for a living as a boy, died yesterday, Chicago's wealthiest citizen and greatest philanthropist.

In his death, the 69-year-old donor of more than 60 millions from the tremendous fortune built by his merchandising genius left a code to guide those who seek to benefit mankind with their wealth.

"Give for the living," Rosenwald, whose last thoughts were of his charities, said. "Those who seek by perpetuities to create for themselves a kind of immortality will fail, because no institution can live forever."

All his endowments must be spent within 25 years of his death. The Alger-like story of Rosenwald's success was a saga of American life. The boy who sold newspapers and chromos on the streets of Springfield, Ill., and pumped a church organ at 5 cents an hour rose to chairmanship of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co., the mail order house he built.

Personally he was modest. His funeral will be characteristic of this modesty. In accordance with one of Rosenwald's last expressed wishes, the time and place of the services will be kept secret. Lessing Rosenwald, his oldest son, said the ceremony would be conducted today but none but members of the family and most intimate friends would attend. The philanthropist's benefactions were limited to no race, creed or class. He gave for the sheer joy of aiding mankind's sufferings. His philanthropy knew no bounds of nation or geography. He gave millions to aid the negro, other fortunes for the less fortunate of his own race, education and research.

KELLOGG PEACE PACT INVOKED BY U. S. TO HALT CHINA-JAP ROW

Washington, Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — The United States today invoked the Kellogg peace pact in an effort to preserve peace between Japan and China in the far east.

This action was taken after long consultation with other powers and after the United States over a period of three months had made urgent representations to Japan in an effort to halt its course in Manchuria.

Information that the pact had been invoked was obtained at the state department.

Secretary of State Stimson plans a formal statement on the Manchurian situation later today.

DEMS TARIFF PLAN INCONSISTENT IN FORM, MILLS AVERS

TREASURY DEPARTMENT DISPROVES REVISIONS PRESENTED TO HOUSE COMMITTEE

Washington, Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — Administration opposition to the democratic tariff revision bill was presented today to the house ways and means committee by Under Secretary of Treasury Mills.

"The treasury department does not approve of this bill and sees no occasion for it," Mills declared.

Mills said he represented the administration "in a general way." Chairman Collier called for other officials who were invited to appear, but neither Secretary of State Stimson nor Secretary of Commerce Lamont was present.

Mills first attacked the section of the bill which would strip the president of his authority to raise or lower rates 50 per cent upon recommendation of the tariff commission. He said this would freeze the tariff rates between general revisions by congress, and would make the tariff commission an "ineffective body."

Faribault, Minn., Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — In the scenes of his boyhood days before he took up aviation which claimed his life, Dale (Red) Jackson will be buried here, his parents announced today.

Plans for the flier's funeral were delayed pending arrival of his body from Miami, Fla., where he was killed late yesterday while stunting at an air show.

Civic groups and those connected with aviation offered condolences to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson, his parents.

Jackson attended Faribault high school and worked in Faribault for several years after he was graduated. He took up aviation in 1928.

The flier married a former Little Falls, Minn., girl.

In the winter of 1926 he went to Lambert-St. Louis field and walked into the office of the Bridgeton Aircraft company and said he "wanted to learn all there was about the business."

He finished the flying course and became an instructor. Later he served as test pilot for the Curtiss company. Then one day his first chance of fame came. "Red" broke the record for successive barrel rolls by looping 417 times in three hours, three minutes. The previous mark was 283.

Jackson often was in the public eye after that and was credited as being the only flier who had looped a Sikorsky amphibian plane—a difficult and dangerous stunt because of the craft's bulky pontoons.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — A hundred fliers "went on with the show" today but Dale Jackson, noted stunter and co-holder of the endurance record, was not in the cast.

Jackson crashed to his death here late yesterday before the all-American air races today. His plane, an experimental Curtiss amphibian, broke apart as Jackson tried his favorite stunt, an inverted spin. Both wings collapsed, the tail gear buckled and the wreckage shot down 300 feet.

Jackson's mutilated body was found in the wreckage, one finger curled through the ring of his parachute rip cord.

Walter Beech, president of the Curtiss-Wright companies, was quoted by one of his officials as warning Jackson not to stunt in the new experimental plane, when the St. Louis

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — A Curtiss-Wright flying service cabin monoplane will carry the body of Dale Jackson, famous flier, from 41 miles to St. Louis, it was announced here today.

The plane will leave Miami late today, it was said, arriving at Lambert-St. Louis field some time tomorrow. The body will lie in state in a hangar at the airport where Jackson gained his fame in endurance flights. Sunday the body will be taken—again by airplane—to Faribault, Minn., for burial.

pilot asked to try it. This official said Beech declared the craft would not stand the strain of Jackson's stunts. "Red" Jackson was only 29. He was recognized as one of the most skillful stunt fliers in the country. He was best known for his endurance flights with Forrest O'Brien in the "St. Louis Robin" and in the "Greater St. Louis."

They brought their plane down on Lambert-St. Louis flying field Aug. 17, 1930, after 647 hours, 28 minutes, 30 seconds in the air.

Jackson and O'Brien flew the "Greater St. Louis" as they said they would, "until the motor drops out." When they landed the crankcase was broken and two cylinders were missing and spraying oil over the ship.

They had remained aloft in sustained flight longer than any man before them and had re-won the record they set in 1929 at 420 hours, 21 minutes, 30 seconds. The Hunter Brothers, of Sparta, Ill., broke the first Jackson-O'Brien mark with a 554-hour endurance flight.

Bandit Nemesis Held in Shooting

Allan Cole, above, Colorado prosecutor who gained fame two years ago when he sent three of the Fleagle bank bandit gang to the gallows, now faces charges of assault to murder. Cole shot Clark Mitchell, widely known stockman, after a quarrel at Lamar, Colo., over a case of gas tax evasion against Mitchell's son.

Lukens and I, who first sighted the wrecked craft while flying over the mountain, were the first to reach the bodies, which were not immediately removed to Renville. Scores of automobiles from Newville went to the scene and an undertaker was summoned.

The crash had been terrific. The engine was half buried in the ground. We first glimpsed Mrs. Stewart's body projecting from under the engine. The wings and cables were a mass of tangled, splintered fragments. The plane glistened white and clean in bright sunlight; obviously, there had been no fire.

Mrs. Stewart was killed instantly. Mrs. Sanford might have lived for a number of hours after the crash.

Take Bodies to Harrisburg
The plane apparently shot down directly out of the fog. Only two saplings in the dense growth of pines and spruce had been shattered by the plane. The craft struck on the right wing, nosed into the mountain, then shot over on the left wing. The rear part of the plane was cracked off.

State troopers wrapped the bodies in blankets and planned to take them into Harrisburg this afternoon.

SCIENCE IN IMPORTANT DISCLOSURES IN WAR AGAINST DISEASE DURING 1931

(By United Press)

Progress by science in its relentless war against germs and ills of mankind during 1931 included production of synthetic rickets-fighting vitamins, discovery of new facts concerning meningitis and other notable findings as reported this week in different sections of the United States.

Outstanding announcements by scientists included:

Sterilization of milk by sound waves with the vibrations killing bacteria as effectively as pasteurization without destroying any vitamins—by Drs. Leslie A. Chambers and Newton Gaines, of Texas Christian university, at New Orleans session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Production in laboratory of first synthetic vitamin to cure rickets—by Drs. Charles E. Bills and Francis G. McDonald, of Mead, Johnson & Co., Evansville, Ind., at New Orleans session.

Sugar found to be key in diagnosis of spinal meningitis. Experiments show meningitis germ consumes sugar in spinal fluid, thus providing index for more accurate treatment—by Dr. Frank Fremont-Smith, of Harvard Medical school, at meeting of association for research in nervous and mental diseases, at New York.

SOCIETY AVIATORS, MISSING SINCE LAST TUESDAY, DISCOVERED IN WRECKAGE OF PLANE SIGHTED ON SIDE OF MOUNTAIN

Search for Ruth Stewart and Debbie Stanford, Lost on First Lap of South American Trip, Ends Today in Finding of Crumpled Plane

By PAUL COMLEY FRENCH (Copyright, 1932, by United Press)

Newville, Pa., Jan. 7. — Ruth Stewart and Debbie Stanford, adventurous society aviators, crashed and were killed on wooded Sherman Mountain, we found today when after sighting their crumpled plane from the air we returned to the scene of the crash by automobile.

Planned S. A. Tour

Their white Lockheed monoplane crashed into the dense timber of the 1,400 foot mountain after they left Pittsburgh Tuesday, en route to New York, from where they planned to start a leisurely air tour to South America. They left St. Louis last week.

Solution of the mystery of their disappearance was made by the United Press correspondent and J. Paul Lukens, pilot for the Autogyro Co., as we soared on a rescue mission over the dangerous mid-Pennsylvania mountain caps.

When we returned to the mountain we found the trim white plane broken in two. In the cabin we found the body of Mrs. Stanford, a cut over one eye.

Mrs. Stewart's mangled body was found crushed under the engine of the craft. It appeared probable that Mrs. Stewart had been killed instantly but that Mrs. Stanford had been unconscious and had died some hours later.

SEE CABINET CRISIS AS FRENCH MINISTER OF WAR SUCCUMBS

DEATH OF ANDRE MAGINOT MAY RESULT IN RESIGNATION OF PREMIER LAVAL

Paris, Jan. 7. — (U.P.) — The death of Minister of War Andre Maginot early today was believed likely to cause a cabinet crisis resulting in the resignation of the ministry of Premier Pierre Laval.

Maginot, 54, entered a coma at 10 p. m. Wednesday and died at 2 a. m. today from typhoid fever. Two doctors and three members of his staff were present. The body was transferred to the minister's apartment at the ministry of war.

The loss of the "big army" war minister and the illness of Foreign Minister Aristide Briand made the situation critical for Laval, for the two ministers were expected to do much of the work of the French delegation at the world disarmament conference. Maginot's death disturbed the delicate balance of the cabinet and it was believed Laval might resign and form a new ministry including radical representatives.

Ex-premier Andre Tardieu was mentioned as a possible successor to Maginot. The cabinet will discuss the appointment of a new minister today.

Mr. Hillman had been a reporter in Ramsey county court for about 45 years. He was about 70 years old, and had been in ill health for about six months.

LAKES CLOSING MAY DRAW LIONS PROTEST

Brainerd Lions last night night referred the protest of closing Gull lake to fishing the remainder of the season to a committee. Clarence Forsberg explained that the closing deprived many unemployed from catching fish to provide for their families.

Forsberg likewise stated that the closing of Whitefish lake to the taking of whitefish at the only time when fishing for this species is good.

Miss Dorothy Dunn presented a number of readings and recitations which were appreciated.

No More Piles

You Can End Your Awful Misery Quick Without Cutting or Salves

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when H. P. Dunn and Johnson's Pharmacy invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?—Adv.

Brainerd Dealer Attends Preview of Hudson, Essex

With an estimate of 155,900 automobiles which must be replaced with new cars in the very near future in the Minneapolis area in which Brainerd is located, prospects for the 1932 sale of new automobiles in this territory are far brighter than at any time during the past few years.

This was the report brought back to Brainerd by Mr. Houle, local Hudson and Essex dealer, who returned today from Minneapolis where he attended a private preview of new 1932 Hudson and Essex models which, he said, establish a new record for the number of advanced features.

Because of light buying during the past two years, Houle said that the heads of Hudson selling organizations attending the meeting reported that thousands of replacements must be made in the very near future, and that as a result there are more prospective purchasers of new automobiles in this area than at any time since 1925 or 1926.

CO. BOARD DEFERS APPOINTMENT FOR ENGINEER'S POST

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT MAY CONTINUE WITHOUT OFFICIAL HEAD UNTIL SPRING

The County Highway Department may be without an official head until spring, it appeared likely through observations at the County Board of Commissioners meeting Tuesday.

Walter M. Murphy who held the position of county engineer for more than 10 years, tendered his resignation, effective Jan. 5. The resignation was accepted at the morning session and further action as to naming of a successor and the time when he will take office was expected at the afternoon session. No action resulted.

The commissioners are expected to receive applications for the position at the February meeting but the appointment if made at that time will not be effective until spring, it was learned in conversation with commissioners.

Two months' delay before placing an engineer in charge will save the county $500.

The commissioners feel justified in deferring action on the appointment in the knowledge that work for the winter has been mapped out and can be carried through without the supervision of an engineer.

At least four men are known to be seeking the appointment.

HISTORY

OVER 23 years ago, the STOTT BRIQUET COMPANY started making briquets. We've been at it ever since, and, for the last 6 years, have made just about 25% of all the briquets in the United States (government figures don't go back any farther than 1925). Many other briquetting companies have come and gone. A few have stayed.

We've made briquets of Pocahontas Smokeless Soft Coal . . . of Pennsylvania Hard Coal . . . and of different mixtures of these two coals . . . the best mined for domestic use. We were trying to find the best mixture. With each change we asked customers and dealers how the briquets worked.

They were never entirely satisfied until we found the perfect combination . . . 60% washed Pennsylvania Hard Coal and 35% Smokeless Pocahontas. Then their approval was unanimous—and they showed it with increased orders.

Today this same mixture, the equivalent of Pennsylvania Hard Coal, is satisfying more and more customers. Try Stott Briquets and see why.

PARENTS, TEACHERS VISIT IN INTEREST OF B. H. S. PUPILS

CLOSER COOPERATION IN THE SCHOOL AND P. T. A. PROGRAM EXPECTED TO RESULT

The regular January meeting of the Washington Parent-Teachers Association was held Tuesday, in the high school. The meeting was interesting and well attended. For an hour before the meeting adjourned to the cafeteria, interested parents visited teachers in their rooms and discussed their common interests and enjoyed personal contacts. It was hoped that this idea may be repeated at every meeting and that more parents may take advantage of this opportunity to better acquaint themselves of the program and study afforded pupils at the Washington high school.

Before the business meeting at 8:30 o'clock the audience sang "America the Beautiful," after which Mrs. W. C. Cobb conducted a clever and interesting game in which an hour passed all too quickly. After this refreshments were served.

CROW WING MUST AID EXPLOITATION--

The Crow Wing county board of commissioners should not hesitate to do its share of providing funds for the exploitation of Minnesota through the 10,000 Lakes-Greater Minnesota Association.

This organization has a well defined program in view but, if these sections such as Crow Wing county fail in their duty to aid, it will prove far from an effective medium through which this country will become nationally known as a summer paradise. In view of the fact that this community benefits greatly by the tourists who flock to this land of lakes every summer, the amount asked to carry on the work of exploitation is exceedingly small. Contrast it to the sums asked by other resort states and the difference is easily discernible.

Crow Wing county cannot afford to pass the opportunity of subscribing its share to the fund being raised by the 10,000 Lakes-Greater Minnesota association. Every year more and more tourists are finding this country the ideal place to come for a summer visit and the more this section is exploited the more returns can be expected.

The Crow Wing county board of commissioners should approve this appropriation as the first order of business at its next meeting. It cannot shirk its part in the movement to bid for the trade of the summer tourists.

In view of the fact that no local medium for exploitation is in existence, this newspaper inclines to the view that the appropriation will be money well spent.

OUR NEW VIEWPOINT--

If the depression is doing nothing else, it at least is causing a slow but steady and significant shift in the average American's viewpoint on political theories.

In the years of prosperity we went, almost unanimously, for the policy of helping the man at the bottom by boosting the man at the top.

We felt that the best way to provide a reasonable amount of happiness, leisure and contentment for the mass of the people was to give business and finance a free hand. If they prospered greatly, the rest of us would prosper at least a little. To suggest putting any sort of check on industry was to be guilty of heresy.

Lately the opposite theory has been coming into its own again. Such men as Governor Gifford Pinchot have been saying things that sound remarkably like the war-cries of 1912, when great wealth was feared and jealously watched. The pendulum is swinging; a Theodore Roosevelt or a Woodrow Wilson could find a following in the land once more.

Now all of this does not mean that an immediate, far-reaching change in national policy is inevitable. It does not necessarily mean that we would be better off if we adopted more radical political and economic creeds. It simply means that our political life is in the process of getting shaken down to a more healthy and logical basis.

In any two-party system of popular government the respective parties ought to stand at opposite poles in this matter. There should be a conservative party and a liberal party. In no other way can a democracy function as it should.

During the recent years of high prosperity that condition did not exist. We all went conservative. The politician's first thought was to prove to business that he was "safe." Liberalism had no appeal.

We are getting back, now, to a sounder position. There is about to be a dividing line in public life once more. This will be a good thing for us, no matter which side proves the stronger.

CHRISTMAS CIGARS--

There really ought to be some kind of monument erected to the Milwaukee man who landed in the hospital because of his insistence on smoking one of the cigars his wife had given him for Christmas.

You saw the story, doubtless; how he walked along the street, puffing manfully, suffering untold pangs but sticking to it, until finally the rankness of the weed overcame him and he fell unconscious, whacking his head against the curb and cutting himself painfully; and how, in the hospital he explained that he had persevered because his dear wife had bought the cigar and he felt it his husbandly duty to consume it to the bitter (the word is used advisedly) end.

Such marital devotion is indeed rare, in these flighty times. If there be a medal of honor for deserving husbands, this man surely should get it.

DOLE OR STARVATION--

The Senate sub-committee which is considering unemployment relief seems to have drawn some plain and forceful talk from the various charity workers who have testified before it in the last few days.

The crisis that these men have described seems to be acute. One after another, they have asserted that private contributions cannot possibly meet the needs of organized relief work this winter. Public funds must be used; the relief workers do not care greatly whether such funds come from city, state or national treasuries, so long as they do come.

This puts a new light on things. That little word, "dole," is no doubt a fairly horrifying word. It is not, however, quite so horrifying as that other word, "starvation." The taxpayer must carry the load, to a certain extent. The only question is, which pocket does he wish to dip into to meet the situation?

THE HISTORIC PANTHER--

The papers printed an unusually interesting little picture the other day—a photograph of a German shipyard, showing workmen dismantling the ancient German gunboat Panther.

Intrinsically the Panther was just another gunboat. But historians will always remember it; for the Panther, through the machinations of international diplomacy, almost started the World War three years ahead of time.

In 1911 there was a revolt in Morocco, where the French claimed to exercise a special sphere of influence. At the height of the trouble the Panther dropped anchor in the harbor of Agadir to protect German interests—and caused such a fluttering in European chancelleries that only prompt and energetic action by England prevented the war from starting then and there.

Now, obsolete and rusty, the Panther is being broken up. Few people recognize the name; but for a few days, 20 years ago, it was the most famous warship on earth.

THREE KINDS of LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

© 1931, by Doubleday, Doran and Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANNE, CECILY and MARY-FRANCES FENWICK live with their grandparents, once wealthy, now so impoverished that Anne and Cecily's earnings support the household. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. The grandparents are known respectively as "ROSALIE" and "GRAND."

Anne, 28, and Cecily, 22, do secretarial work and Mary-Frances, 15, is still in school. When the story opens Anne has been engaged to PHILIP ECKROYD, young lawyer, for eight years. They can not marry because Anne knows her sisters and grandparents depend on her to manage their home.

Cecily has a new admirer, Barry McKEL, with whom she is falling in love though she has known him only a short time. Mary-Frances and her friend, ELMINTRUDE HILL, strike up an acquaintance with EARL DE ARMOUNT, stock company actor. To Mary-Frances he is an intensely romantic figure. She meets him secretly and promises to see him again.

Next morning Phil comes to take Anne to her office in his car. He begs her to set their wedding date. When she points out the obstacles they come near quarreling.

Cecily's friend, MARTA, tells her Barry McKel is a heart-breaker and not to be trusted. When Cecily and Barry have dinner together that evening the girl is moodily unhappy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XX

THEY had left the red-and-yellow sunset on the other side, and here was a night-blue sky, with a few early stars and a clear white quarter of moon. They climbed the rustic steps, and followed the crumpled path, and came to the car parked beneath some fir trees on the byroad.

Cecily looked up at the fir trees and the moon, and boldly and without warning Barry kissed her. The universe reeled over her head, and under her own two feet she could feel the roll of the world, and she forgot Bea and Constance and her chauffeur; she forgot Cecily Fenwick; she forgot Barry, almost, until his arms drew her closer and he said, "Now you kiss me."

After that he said, "I love you," three times, rapidly, and stopped. "Say it again, Barry. Just say it again."

She said it, and added a "dear," for good measure, as generous women are prone to do.

"You'll marry me," he stated. "I mean—when? I mean, darling, you will, won't you?" No, he did not do so well with that. Rumor has it that men seldom do.

"Let's don't worry about marriage," she said. "At least, not now—not yet for a while."

"Let's you and I not ever worry about it," he said, and laughed his delight. "Let's you and I just say, 'Certainly. Tomorrow morning very early,' and change the subject, if you like."

"Only—" she said—"I thought you didn't approve much of marriage."

His happiness could not encompass his gravity. "I don't. I stubbornly disapprove of all marriages except yours and mine, which is to take place tomorrow morning very early."

"Let's on the porch at twelve that first evening, you said."

There was nothing to do but stop that instantly with another kiss.

"Dearest," she said.

"Darling," said he, and went on. "I was a fool that evening, Cecily—I love your name. An ignorant, opinionated fool. The less I know, the longer and louder I talk. It's a habit I've formed. I did have a down on marriage, because dad and mother made a mess of theirs. I wish I hadn't told you—at least, not until later. Does it make a difference, Cecily? Their being divorced, I mean?"

"BARRY! How can you be so absurd? How could that make a difference?"

"But something," he insisted, "seems to be making a difference. Or is it—well, is it that you just don't wish to marry me?"

"No, dear. No. I do wish to."

"We're engaged!" He caught her hands and did some crazy dance steps and called to the trees and the moon, "We're engaged. We'll be married in the morning. It sounds like a song. It is a song. Let's both sing it. We'll be married in the morning. We'll be married in the morning. To that we both agree. Why don't you sing, darling?"

"I can't," she said.

"Well, then, why don't you clap?" She was glad that Barry had such a splendid singing voice. She was glad that he was so happy and silly; but she could not understand why he was. Her own happiness made her feel quiet and grave and almost solemn.

"I know," he said. "You think I am making a joke out of the most stupendously serious thing in the world. It isn't that, Cecily. I'm not sure what it is. It seems to be that I've gone mad—drunk?—imbecile, maybe, with happiness. But underneath I'm wholly and deeply serious. I love you, darling—and I want you to marry me. I'll wait, if you make me. I'll wait a week—even two. But I don't want to wait. Do you? No, sir, you can't. Why need we? Come, let's sit in the car. You're tired, standing there. Now, then. You don't want to wait a long long time to marry me, do you? Do you? Do you?"

She settled back into the cushions and refused with one flash to think of Ann and Grand and Rosalie, of the house, and the Very-Fancy Educational Fund, and said honestly, "But, Barry, I hadn't thought of marriage. One has to think about it, you know. A girl does, anyway—and a man should."

"I have," he declared. "I'll admit that my speeches this evening have had an unfortunate extemporaneous quality—that's your fault. You go to my head. The minute I met you I was afraid I was going to ask you to marry me. I was all that night. The next day, when we had luncheon together, and ever since then, I've been afraid I'd never get up enough courage to ask you. So, with this and that, marriage hasn't been out of my mind for more than a few seconds since I met you—and looked at you and loved you. You won't think I'm critical, will you, darling, if I say it seems sort of queer that you hadn't given it one thought?"

"I've thought a lot about love," she confessed. "But I hadn't gone further than that—not into marriage."

"Cecily," he said, and his horror was not faintly exaggerated, "you aren't the sort of girl who goes and gets marriage all mixed up with monograms and guest towels and table napkins—are you?"

"No," she denied. "But marriage does bring lots of other—well, practical considerations. Let's don't, for a while. Let's just be happy, and in love, and not go worrying about marriage."

"Practical? He nabbed it grimly. So that was the trouble? He had forgotten to be practical. She was like that? Well—women, all women were, he supposed. "It is this way, dear," he said. "I'm not in debt, and I have a few hundred dollars saved—I'd have had more but for the doctors—so on. I have a job fairly good because of its permanency. It doesn't pay a lot, but I'm sure we could live on it for a time out here, with prices as they are. Other people live on much less. Later—"

Her hand, fragrantly cool, had gone up over his lips. "No, Barry. It isn't that. Really it isn't."

He had wished to continue, and tell her again about the book, and how he believed in it, and Joseph Amington, the New York editor and critic—who, marvelously, was also his friend—believed in it, and why. He had wished to tell her about other books, that were to follow this one. He had wished to plan and dream about them and about how she was to help him. So, though he kissed her fingers before he took them away, he said, "Very well," with an appealing imitation of indifference.

Cecily thought, "He thinks that it is because he isn't a rich man. He thinks that I am greedy and calculating." She denied it desperately. "No! Barry, dearest—no! It isn't money nor jobs nor things of the sort. I don't care a bit about any of that. It is only—that I can't marry."

"Cecily! What are you saying? You aren't married now, are you?"

No of course not. But— His sudden relief brought resentment with it. "Then," he said, "suppose we take a shot at being sensible for a moment or two and stop talking like characters in an O'Neill play. If you aren't married, and if you care for me as you seemed to not so long ago, there is no reason on earth why we can't be married, and soon."

"YES," she said, "there are ever so many reasons." She spoke in a small, conventional voice, as if she were making chatty conversation with a stranger who was, above all things, a stickler for the wholly sensible. "You see, I happen to be one of the heads of a household. If you were married now, and had a family, you couldn't desert them all and marry me at once."

"Cecily, darling, what is the matter? I'm not married. You aren't married."

"But it is much the same. Ann and I have said so. You see, Ann and I love each other more than many married people do. I am sure. And we've shared everything including responsibilities and clothes, and hopes, and work, and fun, and money, and everything, since—well, since mother and father died."

"Cecily, sweet," he objected, "you aren't going sentimental, are you, and self-sacrificial and all that?"

"If it is sentimental to pay the grocer and the butcher, and see that the family has a place to live, and that Mary-Frances has an education, I've gone already, years ago. Ann makes $25 a week. I make $30. It takes every cent of it."

"But, darling," he interrupted, "never mind about that. It is you, qua you, in whom I'm interested. You don't love Ann more than you love me, do you?"

"It is entirely different," she said, and added irrelevantly, "Ann didn't rush off and marry Phil the minute he asked her. They have been engaged for eight years."

He simulated a shudder. "Hear me, you woman person. I'm not going to wait eight years nor eight months, nor eight weeks for you."

EAT WISELY FOR THE MODERN FIGURE

Famous Beauties Show New Fashions for 1932

Gone is the day of starvation diets! Hollywood jubilantly welcomes the return of curves—and of healthful, normal figures.

But the new styles—so beautifully feminine—yet so definitely made for the outdoor girls—are even more exacting than ever before. From the trim, revealing sports costumes to the clinging evening gowns—every style requires a softly rounded, slender figure to look its best.

To wear them well, one must be slender—ah, yes—but not the flat "skinniness" of yesterday's starvation menus. Rather the beautifully rounded slimmness of wise eating and healthful exercise.

"Balanced menus," say dietitians today, "are more important in winning and keeping youthful beauty than any other one thing." A diet that is lacking in any of the vital food elements is very likely to effect looks as well as health.

The Kellogg Company of Battle Creek, Michigan—world's largest manufacturer of ready-to-eat cereals, has prepared a very beautiful and helpful booklet on eating wisely for the modern figure. It contains attractive illustrations of many famous stars in the new 1932 modes. It also gives you suggested menus and much helpful information regarding diets for reducing and for keeping a stylish figure.

The retail grocers of this city are giving this booklet free with the purchases of Kellogg Products this week. Be sure and get one.

Maple Grove School Reports Fine Attendance

Maple Grove students neither tardy nor absent during December at school, District 33, Maple Grove, as reported by the teacher Miss Eleanore Schley, were Dorothy Bower, Hazel Bower, Helen, Joe Brunberg, Anton Mogenson, Doris Mogenson, Dorothy Mogenson, Marie Mogenson, Margeurite Mogenson, Julia Mogenson, Lillian Rasmussen, Helen Senn, Anna Senn, William Senn.

The following have had perfect attendance during the entire half year of school: Hazel Bower, Lillian Rasmussen, Anna Senn, Helen Senn and William Senn.

Other interesting features about work at the school in December were the dictionary booklets made by Grades 4 to 8 inclusive and Minnesota booklets correlating history and geography made by pupils of Grades 7 and 8.

About 40 cities in the world have populations of more than a million.

LAURA LA PLANTE, beautiful screen star, wears this evening gown of moulded simplicity with charm and distinction.

GENEVIEWE TOBIN, charming Universal star, selects the new shorts and shirt for tennis.

DOROTHY JORDAN, lovely Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, chooses a bouffant-type frock for evening wear.

You'll be interested in the clothes they wear for different occasions—for sports—for shopping—for afternoon—for evening.

Company. Here are safe rules every girl can follow to win and keep the youthful figure so necessary to wear today's styles well.

There are also suggested menus—showing how it is possible to enjoy eating and to count calories at the same time. Get it free with the purchase of one package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

SMITH, TEMPLETON, SWANSON PROVE PEQUOT DOWNFALL

WARRIORS PLAY AT AITKIN TOMORROW, AT HOME SATURDAY

VALLEY CITY INVASION TO PROVIDE SPECTACULAR BATTLE

Everyone but the water boy saw action for Brainerd high school in its game with Pequot here last night, the locals winning 42-13.

The referee and the scorers were the sufferers. The referee developed a throat ailment from checking out the players and the scorers developed wristitis which came from overuse of the wrist in chalking the substitutions and scores.

Eighteen different players were in the game for Brainerd at one time or another.

The game provided a workout for the Brainerd squad in preparation for three remaining games this week.

While the first stringers are playing at Aitkin Friday night, the second string will engage Riverton at Riverton.

Saturday night all Brainerd players will be on deck here to combat the invasion of the Valley City, N. D., high school quint.

The Brainerd tumbling team will appear in exhibition at the Aitkin and Brainerd floors.

Aitkin will play at Pine River tonight and is assured of a battle.

The Valley City team was runner up in the state high school tournament in North Dakota last year and has practically the same team back this year.

Under North Dakota rules a high school player may engage in basketball until he becomes 21 years. The

WM. HOOPER 2 GAME WIN PUTS THE MRAZ FIVE IN FIRST PLACE

Mraz Candy was in first place in the city "B" bowling league today by virtue of Wm. Hooper's two game win over a three man Mills Motor team last night at Van's alleys. The Hoopers played with four men.

The Town Pump won two games from the Lions five. Glenn Myers was high pin man for the night, with a 609 pin count.

Tonight ladies league games will be played.

Peterson Clothing and Mraz Candy won two games each Tuesday night, defeating Alderman-Maghan and the Study Club teams, respectively.

Kearns Ex-Dempsey Pilot, Turns Title Bout After Eight Years

age limit to players in Minnesota is 20 years.

"We have a strong team and looking for games against fast competition," the North Dakota coach informed Coach Dammann in making arrangements for the Brainerd game.

Smith, Templeton and Swanson teamed up to give the Brainerd team a safe lead early in the game. Before these three were substituted late in the second quarter by Bob Wylie, Elmer Foster and Gerry Wylie they had scored 25 points.

The scores by quarters indicate the play, Brainerd staying in the lead from the start: 1st, 12-1; 2nd, 28-3; 3rd, 38-11; 4th, 42-13.

The Pequot quint was handicapped by playing on the larger floor. Its defense failed to stand up under the pressure of the Warriors who scored the majority of their field goals from close range.

Crockett stood out for the visitors, playing a heady defensive game and scoring seven of Pequot's 13 points.

Smith, Templeton and Swanson shouldered the heaviest of the play, seeing action during the first quarter and part of the second and third quarters.

Substitutions are listed as follows: second quarter, Gerry Wylie for Swanson, Bob Wylie for Smith, Foster for Templeton; third quarter, Foster for Bob Wylie, Templeton for Smith, Swanson for Gerry Wylie, White for Garvey, Gabiou for Larson; fourth quarter, Paine for Swanson, Dahl for Templeton, Anderson for Smith, Koering for Dahl, Gallagher for Anderson, Koec for Molstad, Tolferson for Gabiou, Molstad for White.

The box score follows:

REVEAL LITTLE WAS FORCED TO RESIGN

"WAS GENERALLY INCOMPETENT" FEELING PERSISTS

Madison, Wis., Jan. 7.—(U.P.)—George E. Little virtually was forced to resign as director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin, it has been revealed by the legislative committee investigating athletics at the state school.

Prof. J. F. A. Pyre, chairman of the athletic council, could not give one reason why Little's resignation had been desired in answer to questioning yesterday by Assemblyman Oscar Schmiede.

Prof. Pyre answered, "It was just a feeling that he was generally incompetent."

In questioning George Downer, Wisconsin publicity man, Schmiede expressed it as his opinion that much dissatisfaction was caused by the Wisconsin football team last fall over the fact that Gregory Kabat, guard, was given too much publicity.

"I have been told by certain members of the team that Coach Thistlethwaite favored Kabat and encouraged his receiving publicity even though some of the players considered Kabat 'not so hot'."

SCHMELING - WALKER MATCH CONTRACTS TO BE SIGNED TODAY

BOU WILL BE 15-ROUND AFFAIR STAGED IN MIAMI ON FEBRUARY 26

New York, Jan. 7.—(U.P.)—With the signing of contracts this afternoon for the Max Schmeling-Mickey Walker world heavyweight championship bout at Miami, Fla., Feb. 26, Jack Kearns, manager of Walker, will maintain his ranking as the miracle man of modern managers.

Kearns signed for many heavyweight championship fights as manager of Jack Dempsey between 1919 and 1923. But to land a heavyweight championship contract after eight years' absence from championship councils is a real accomplishment.

When Kearns, after his break with Dempsey, announced he would be back at the top, dictating heavyweight affairs after Dempsey was gone and forgotten, few people took his words seriously. And when he took over Mickey Walker, who had lost the welterweight title to Pete Latzo, and began ballyhooing him as a heavyweight contender, folks shook their heads and agreed that poor old Doc Kearns was slightly balmy.

Balmy he may have been, but he has forced Walker's acceptance as an opponent for Champion Max Schmeling.

And if Walker wins, the stage will be set for Jack Dempsey, whose association with Kearns has run the gamut from inseparable friendship to bitter enmity, would be in line for the first chance at Walker's title.

Kearns' present interest is the signing of contracts for the Walker-Schmeling bout, scheduled for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The bout will be over a 15-round route in Madison Square Garden arena at Miami on Feb. 26, with George Blake of Los Angeles as referee.

The Madison Square Garden corporations of Florida and Illinois will cooperate in the promotion with Schmeling receiving 40 per cent of the net receipts and Walker accepting 15 per cent.

Ruth-Ruppert Salary Battle Opens

New York, Jan. 7.—(U.P.)—The familiar Ruth vs. Ruppert battle was on in earnest today. Babe Ruth, home run hitter, has told his boss, Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, through the newspapers, that he believes he should get a two-year contract at $80,000 per annum.

The Babe points out that he had a splendid season in 1931 and believes that his record entitles him to a renewal of his old contract.

"If I'd had a bad year I'd consider taking a cut," Ruth said. "But I had a great year. I may not get a two-year contract but I don't think I ought to take a cut, especially if it is a one-year contract that is made."

HARVARD PUCKSTERS SUBDUE ST. MARY'S

DEFEAT WINONA COLLEGE TEAM 11 TO 2

Boston, Jan. 7.—(U.P.)—Harvard's hockey team overwhelmed St. Mary's college of Winona, Minn., 11 to 2, at Boston Garden last night.

Coming here following three straight wins over eastern teams, St. Mary's wilted after holding Harvard almost even in the first period. Starting with the second period Harvard cut loose and only the reckless goal tending of Captain Oscar Almquist kept the score from mounting even higher.

Score by periods:

Harvard	2	6	3-11
St. Mary's	1	0	1-2

Harvard goals: Baldwin (5); Crosby (2); Palmer, Martin, Wood, Pell. St. Mary's goals: Bujold, Howden.

New Orleans, Jan. 7.—(U.P.)—Tulane university will have virtually an all-southern conference football schedule next season, preliminary announcement indicated today. Only one non-conference game, that with the Texas Aggies, has been arranged so far. Eight games have been arranged with Southern conference opponents. The complete schedule for 1932 will be announced next week.

Rockne Trophy to Trojans; Shaver Named Most Valuable

Los Angeles, Jan. 7.—(U.P.)—The Trojans of the University of Southern California today were in possession of the Knute K. Rockne national intercollegiate memorial football trophy in recognition of their national championship under Prof. Frank C. Dickenson rating system.

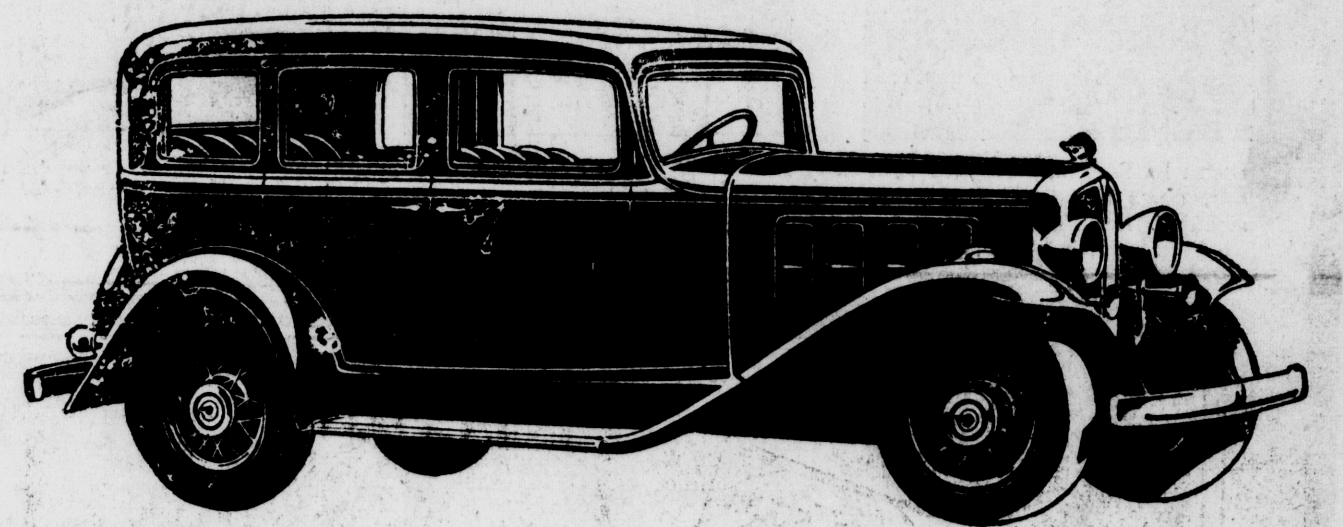

Arymond (Tay) Brown, a tackle and a junior, was elected captain of the 1932 team at a meeting of the varsity last night.

Gaius Shaver, quarterback, was given the University club plaque as the most valuable player in the state. Ernie Pinckert, halfback, won the Douglas Fairbanks trophy as the most valuable player in the country, according to the Howard Jones-Norman Speer rating system.

New York, Jan. 7.—(U.P.)—More than 6,000 persons, including Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion of the world, set in Madison Square Garden last night and watched Big Bill Tilden score another victory over his old rival, Vincent Richards.

Playing in Jack Curley's round robin tournament for the world's indoor professional title, Tilden scored a decisive 6-2, 6-3, 6-1 win. Then, just to prove that age has robbed him of little of his stamina, Tilden paired with Francis T. Hunter to defeat the German combination of Hans Nussleif and Roman Najuch, 5-7, 6-3, 9-7.

SWEEPING PRICE CUTS ANNOUNCED

1932 PRICE REVISION EXPLAINED BY WARD'S STORE MANAGER

A general reduction in selling prices throughout all Montgomery Ward & Co. stores, totalling $5,000,000, has just been completed, according to L. E. Swanson, Ward's local store manager. This step, which is considered one of the most momentous in American retailing, has resulted in a general lowering of prices from 10 per cent to as much as 50 per cent below the peak prices of 1931. George B. Everitt, president of Montgomery Ward & Co., said in a statement to the press: "There are about 123,000,000 people in America to be supplied with the necessities of life. This job will go to the merchants who are in a position to offer the greatest values, and who have the courage to make liberal use of printer's ink in letting the public know about them. Last year we spent approximately $4,500,000 on newspaper advertising alone. Without attempting any forecast as to the future outlook for business, we look for a revival of good old-fashioned bargain hunting. The drastic price concessions we are making, and our recent advertising plans for 1932, reflect our confidence in the future."

In line with this new policy, all prices at the Brainerd store have been reduced to the new 1932 rock bottom prices, even on the newly arrived shipments of fresh spring merchandise.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere moment doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

WASH TUBBS

AS RIP TAKES THE DAGGER TO HIS ROOM, HIS ALERT EYES GLIMPSE A SLINKING FIGURE NEARBY. "PROB'LY WOLFGANG" HE GRUNTS AND PASSES ON.

JES TO PLAY SAFE, I'LL PULL IN THE SHADES 'N' PUT MY ROD IN EASY REACH.

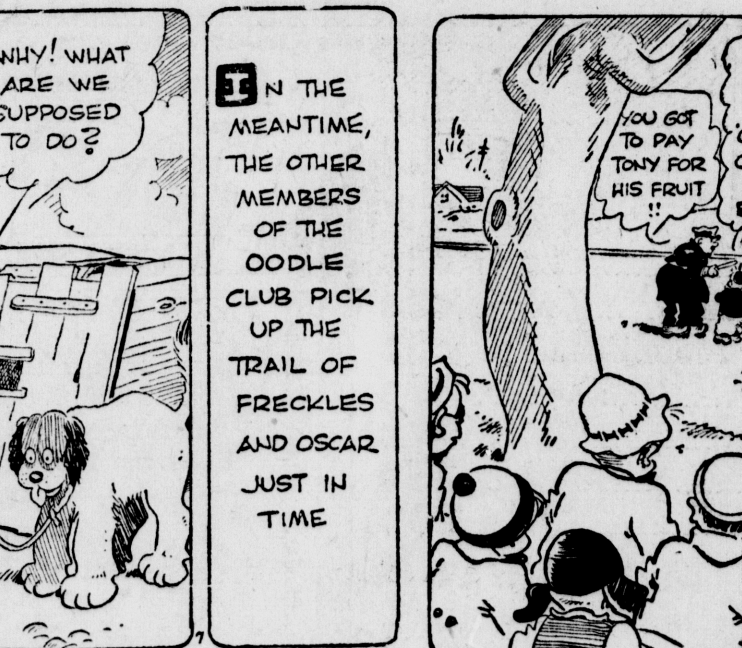

FOR HOURS HE WORKS METHODICALLY, TRYING TO PRY OFF THE HANDLE OF THE DAGGER. THEN FOR HOURS MORE HE SCRIBBLES ON SHEET AFTER SHEET OF PAPER.
